These notes form part of the annual financial report for Hobart Hackerspace Inc for the year 2025-26.

This financial year has been an interesting one. It is notable in that, although we did not lose money over the year, our surplus was substantially less than the previous couple of years.

Further, except for a quirk in payment dates, we would, in fact, have made a slight loss. Due to an administrative error, the annual insurance bill was paid after 30th June, so, strictly, belongs in next year's accounts. If we take that amount ($1,007) into account, we in fact made a slight loss of $84.

There are several reasons for this:

1. The good news: we spent money on improvements

- The heat pump.
 - This was a substantial purchase (~$3,500) which provides a significantly improved space to work in during both winter and summer.
 - We have agreement from our landlord that it can be moved elsewhere, should we move premises at some point.
- IT infrastructure
 - We now have megabit NBN capability and current-generation wifi (in both speed and security).
- Other equipment
 - Professional DMM for the electronics folks
 - Orbital sander
 - New BBQ
 - etc

2. The not-so-good news:

1. The closure of the Space in May cost us both in loss of membership income and the direct costs to us.
 - We refunded all financial members for the lack of access by extending all memberships by 1 month. While the explicit value of those extensions was not counted, their value would have been at least $800, based on 1/11 of our actual annual membership income.
 - We paid legal and other fees of nearly $1,500
2. There were fewer opportunities to provide NDIS services.
 - We have a very small number of NDIS clients. The contribution from service provision to them has been very beneficial to us (as well as to them) over several years.

- As the number of clients is small, a slight change in availability can affect the final outcome.
3. Membership income was lower, even taking account of the month's refund. Membership numbers are slightly lower than last year, but still well up on prior years.
